THE PEOPLE MOVING.

We have expressed the opinion in former articles that a large number, if not a majority of the people of the Southern States had not and would not endorse the secession movement—that it was led on and supported by a minority, and that the inertness of the thinking masses would shortly be thrown off, when it would be found that they would with indignation disclaim any sympathy whatever with the movement. These predictions were uttered with a firm belief in the patriotism of the majority, even if the strongholds of the secessionists, and we now add to them with a little pleasure, that people are, by their acts, showing a dissatisfaction with the proceedings of the secessionists which must soon lead to a more open expression of their sentiments, and result in an eventual declaration for the Union as it was, under some suitable basis of compromise. It now appears that a necessity for some adjustment is approaching. Discontent among the people, caused by recollection of the prosperity and peace they formerly enjoyed, compared with their present condition, is urging the necessity for a change. The only way that internal peace can be insured to the seceded States, and security for their heads be expected by the leading secessionists is, before the popular feeling becomes too warm, to arrive at some peaceful, Union-promoting method of arranging the affairs of the South.

A correspondent of the Alta, writing from the East, states that much discontent exists in Louisiana, because the official returns of the election on the secession question were not made public. The New Orleans Picayune has said, for some time, that the official returns were wilfully withheld from the people, and that all efforts to obtain them had been, and would be, unsuccessful; the paper named has been charged with stirring up strife by such words, and the statements have been declared by rabid secession journals to be false. Now, however, the Picayune points with triumph to the vote by which the Convention forbade the people to know the official and true result of the election. The truth is, Louisiana never voted for secession, and the leaders knew it. Knowing it, they dare not expose the people to the conviction of the grossest falsehood and fraud, and they therefore prefer to take the undemocratic alternative of refusing the people their own records.

The subdued grumbling of the voters in the Southern States, who have had about as much voice in the Confederate Constitution as they have in the councils of Louis Napoleon, begins to be heard in the Southern papers. The Selma (Ala.) Sentinel cries out for a submission of the Constitution to the people. The Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer coincides with those who held that it was an usurpation of power for the Provisional Congress at Montgomery to adopt a permanent Constitution for the Confederate States."

Index I

This is a vital statistic index of the San Mateo County Times Gazette (San Mateo County, California) which begins with its first issue, April 9, 1859 through the December 30, 1899 issue. Some probate items were included if there had been no death notice.

First column is the issue date of the newspaper

Second column is the event: b. birth, m. marriage, d. death, p. probate, s. summons

Third column is the date of the event

Fourth column is the age and/or the parent, or the spouse of the subject

Index II

This is an every name index from some of the early issues of the San Mateo County Times Gazette. It was funded as a CETA project many years ago under the direction of Anna Scott, Supervising Reference Librarian for San Mateo County. This index is taken from their entries which were filed on 3x5 cards. There are no entries after January 1867.
